

Advanced Television & Sports Production

Welcome to the Glenbrook North Advanced Television Production Class. By enrolling in this advanced elective you have made a decision to join a group of students that will work together as a team to meet the unique challenge of creating and operating cable television channel 27.

While the culmination of this experience is the successful completion of your projects and the daily programming of GBN-TV, I hope that along the way you will develop a strong sense of self-esteem and confidence while working as an integral part of a unified team. Along the way you will develop technical expertise, self-discipline, artistic insight, and interpersonal skills.

To give you a real world educational experience, this class will be conducted around a business like framework. The specific guidelines for the implementation of this approach are included in this packet. Please read over this information carefully. Feel free to ask any questions and to discuss anything you do not understand.

It is important you understand what is expected of you and how you will be evaluated. There will be certain activities and assignments that everyone will be required to take part in. In order that you might investigate areas that are of interest to you, a portion of your time in this class will be yours to develop projects that should be created and designed by you.

It is your responsibility for the development and completion of your Long Term Project(s). It is expected that during class time, when not working on an instructor-assigned project, you are working on the goals and objectives of your LTP. Students are expected to demonstrate proficiency appropriate to their experience level.

It is anticipated that self discipline and initiative will be demonstrated by all staff members and evaluations will be based on this foundation. In addition all projects must be suitable for classroom and cable use.
